Implementation of Intersection Management

Introduction to Intelligent Vehicles, Final Project

資工三 標彥廷 B10902133

Department of Computer Science and Information Engineering

National Taiwan University

May 21, 2024

Abstract

This project is an implementation of intersection management. The intersection management is a system that controls the traffic flow in an intersection by scheduling the vehicles to pass the intersection. This project is implemented in Python and visualized by Pygame.

1 Conclusion

2 Statement

The report does not have any double assignment or any completed work before this semester